Cessation of Operations in Fayette County Confined to Allison Plants

Three Hundred Fifty Men Employed by Allison Plant to Report for Work.

OTHERS TAKING HOLIDAY

Operations Continue As Usual at Plants of H. C. Frick Coke Company and Independent Throughout Region, Pittsburgh District Suspended.

At one plant in the southern end of the county and absence of a limited number of men at other plants in the Brownsville region, bordering on the Allegheny, Fayette coal miners were on duty as usual this morning.

The Allison plants of W. J. Rainer, Inc., in the Brownsville territory were tied up, 350 men failing to report for work.

It was estimated that less than two per cent of the men employed in the county had answered the call to strike.

The Indian Creek Valley field was suspended, according to reports from the valley.

The region generally apprehends no serious action at plants bordering on the union mines of the Monaca Valley.

At the Allison, Tower Hill and Orient in the Allegheny section, and at Allegheny in the Monaca section, a number of miners who formerly worked in union mines, of the valley have been employed.

These did not report to work, but the usual number of miners, however, are the only idle men at these plants, all of which are making full run today.

All plants of H. C. Frick and Washington Coal & Coke companies are operating as usual with their full complement of men.

What was described as Communist literature was being broadcasted over the county by radicals, according to reports received by Sheriff L. I. Shaw, who declared that any persons found distributing inflammatory circulars would be arrested.

Between 1,000 and 2,000 miners joined in a parade at Brownsville during the forenoon. There was no disturbance of any kind.

In the Tan-Mile Creek field in the Brownsville territory, which was organized yesterday, it was said every man was in line.

Somerset Field Not Affected by Miners' Strike

By Associated Press.

SOMERSET, April 1.—Some 12,000 non-union miners employed in the Somerset coal field continued their work today and effects of the strike call of the United Mine Workers were confined to three or four mines in and around McDonald. These mines operated on a union basis until recently, when the men struck to adjust from a local grievance.

A survey of the field by county peace officers this morning disclosed that the great majority of mines were operating with about the same forces as they have employed previously this year.

The building trade is experiencing a boom in Florida, according to Harvey L. Silcox who arrived home this week from Orlando after a stay of two months. Mr. Silcox said he visited a number of cities and found building brisk and prospects bright.

Florida is the best state in the union in which to live and Orlando has advantages over any other city he knows of, Mr. Silcox said.

April 1 Passes With Few Movings

Real estate men report very few inquiries for houses this year from families already located. Although April 1 is generally recognized as a moving day there are few fittings at this period of the season. There are some changes of residence being anticipated for sometime within the next two weeks, they say, but April 1 is an unsatisfactory date this season, as it falls on Saturday, not allowing the moving family to get cleaned up for Sunday.

The largest number of changes seem to be in apartment buildings. Three families are moving from the White Front and another from the Cunningham flats. C. F. Critchfield, Jr., is moving from the former place to a house in Cottage avenue. Clyde Trout, another tenant in the same apartment is also moving. He is planning to build a new home. S. E. Dorsey, also an occupant of the White Front, is moving to the West for his health.

GEORGE H. SWEARINGEN RETIRES AFTER HALF CENTURY IN BUSINESS

Special to The Courier.

DUNBAR, April 1.—For 50 years a privileged to enjoy 50 years of continuous business activity, and few still are they who spend the entire half century in active business in one community. To the last class belongs George H. Swearingen, whose 50 years of active business in Dunbar justify his voluntary retirement.

Coming to Dunbar 50 years ago a stranger, to accept a clerkship in a company store, his affable manner and courteous treatment of customers quickly popularized him with the people and paved the way for his large part in the life and history of the town he had selected for his home.

In 1876, four years after becoming a Dunbarian, he decided to enter business for himself, and, forming a partnership with the late G. W. Porter, the firm of Porter & Swearingen, long its sign at the corner of Church and Railroad streets, and began business in a room 18 feet square. Four years later Mr. Swearingen bought his partner's interest, thus becoming sole proprietor, and moved his store into more commodious quarters on the opposite side of Railroad street. His increasing business requiring more room he erected a large warehouse on lots he had purchased in Connellsville street.

While at the Connellsville World's Exposition at Chicago in 1903 his store on Railroad street was burned. Not discouraged, he, as soon as adjustments were made with the insurance company, opened a new store in his Continued on Page Two.

Outstanding Features of the Coal Strike Commenced Today

There are approximately 400,000 union bituminous coal mine workers and 150,000 anthracite workers.

The bituminous coal miners demand the maintenance of the present scale, made in 1920, for which the basic wage is $7.50 a day for common labor.

They demand a five-day week with a basic six-hour day and punitive overtime pay.

Bituminous coal operators seek to have wages reduced in order to decrease the cost of production and bring down the mine price of coal.

They reject the five-day week and six-hour day as uneconomic, and seek to retain the present eight-hour day.

They desire the abolition of the check-off by which they are compelled to collect union dues and assessments.

Anthracite miners demand an increase of 20 per cent in the contract rate and $1 a day in the rate for day labor.

They demand other changes in rates and working rules which would result in increasing the cost of production.

Anthracite operators insist wages must come down in conformity with wages in other industries, in order that the cost of coal at the mines may be reduced.

Anthracite miners and operators are at present in conference in an attempt to negotiate a new wage scale.

Bituminous coal mine workers have refused to negotiate with operators except for the industry as a whole. Operators generally are opposed to national wage agreements, preferring district settlements.

The anthracite industry is thoroughly unionized, but has no check-off.

About one-third of the bituminous coal production comes from non-union mines.

Official estimates are that there will be at least 63,000,000 tons of coal in reserve on April 1. These reserves are in the hands of consumers; they have been purchased and shipped.

These stocks, sufficient in themselves for 40 days, with the production of non-union mines, will be sufficient to take care of the requirements of the country at the present rate of consumption for a considerable period.

Quarter Century Old Fund to Be Divided Among War Vets

Members of the old Company D, who disembarked from the troop ships returning from the Philippines and were mustered out in San Francisco following the termination of the Philippine Insurrection, will meet in the Veterans of Foreign Wars rooms in the Webb building next Wednesday for a division of the remainder of the company fund, approximately $200.

This money was saved through efficiency and loyalty in operating the commissary during the period of service. When the volunteers were mustered out at the close of their service the question of disposing of the money was brought up. At that time it was voted to deposit it in a bank and later purchase a lot in Hill Grove Cemetery. The remainder of the company fund collected by the people of Connellsville and turned over to the men for use in purchasing "excuses" was divided at the time of being mustered out. It amounted to $12.50 for each man.

On their return home the foreign veterans were given two lots in the cemetery and the money was saved. This lot, Captain H. A. Crow deposited it in the bank but it had been voted on in such manner and deposited in a way which made it difficult to be withdrawn. Signatures of a majority of the men have been secured, however, and the fund will now be divided. The sum has increased somewhat since it was placed on deposit, interest having accumulated. The meeting will be at 7:30 o'clock.

FORMER EMPEROR CHARLES DIES IN EXILE AT FUNCHAL

End Comes to Ex-Ruler of Austro-Hungarian Monarchy Early Today.

DEATH DUE TO PNEUMONIA

By Associated Press.

FUNCHAL, Madeira, April 1.—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary died here today.

Death was caused by pneumonia. Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary and his wife, Zita, were sent into exile by the Entente Allies after he had made two spectacular attempts to regain the throne of Austria-Hungary. Thereafter he was kept in a political prisoner on the Portuguese island of Madeira, 400 miles off the African coast.

Although his situation in exile there resembled in some respects that of Napoleon at St. Helena, Charles and Zita occupied a much more comfortable position for they were given a pleasant home in the beautiful city of Funchal whose residents treated them with friendly consideration.

Ex-Empress Zita had left her children in Switzerland and when one of them was taken to the Allied governments permitted her to return to that country and visit them.

After the establishment of the Austrian republic on November 12, 1918, Charles, who was then in Austria, sought permission to remain in that country but he was asked to leave after it was found he was plotting for his resumption of power. He left with his family late in March, 1919, and rented a house on the banks of Lake Geneva at Prangins, where he resided for some months.

During this time reports of his alleged plotting leaked out.

On March 29, 1921, he suddenly appeared in Vienna but his overtures being repulsed by the Austrian authorities, he went to Budapest, where he attempted to take over the Hungarian government from Admiral Horthy.

Although disappointed by the lack of support, the former emperor refused to leave the country, pleading illness. Later he offered to renounce all his titles, remaining as a simple citizen.

On April 6, he re-entered Switzerland, which received him as the understanding he would engage in no more intrigues or propaganda.

The Swiss increased their guard over him but on October 22 he reached Raab, Hungary, having crossed the Swiss frontier in an airplane. He formed a "legitimate cabinet" at Raab and marched on Budapest with an army of 12,000 men.

The Hungarian government sent troops against him and he was finally captured with his wife near Komorn.

Charles refused to abdicate and the Hungarian government, on demand of the Allies, passed a bill in the national assembly detronizing him and permanently ousting the Hapsburg regime.

A few days later he and Zita were conveyed by a British warship to Funchal where they arrived November 19, 1921.

SPLENDID WORK BY SALVATION ARMY DURING WINTER

Funds Provided by Budget Being Judiciously and Wisely Expended.

MANY FAMILIES AIDED

By Associated Press.

Until Wage Earners Could Find Employment; Every Precaution Taken to Prevent Army's Bounty Being Imposed Upon; Adjutant's Report.

If the persons who have contributed to the Salvation Army budget could have heard the sidelights, Adjutant Campbell gave while presenting his report at a meeting of the advisory board last evening, they would have been fully convinced that this fund is being administered with most excellent judgment, wisdom and discretion, and in such a way as to yield full value for every penny expended.

The report covered the period from September 1 last to the last week of March, the season when there is always the largest number of calls upon the Army for aid. During the past winter conditions have been unusual because of the widespread industrial depression. Except for the budget placed at the disposal of the Army that organization would have been more than overtaxed to meet the demands upon it. Moreover, much of the time and energies of the officers would have had to be devoted to raising funds, and to that extent would have interfered with the work of extending aid. Being relieved of the burden of soliciting the Army was free to devote all its attention to caring for the unfortunate and temporarily distressed, which was done with remarkable results.

During the period covered by Adjutant Campbell's report 82 families were provided with groceries, 346 orders therefor having been issued. In addition to several car loads of coal donated by Logan Rush the Salvation Army supplied 1,103 bushels to needy families. Orders were issued for 234 meals, not including lunches given at the home of Adjutant and Mrs. Campbell. Out of the donations of clothing to the Army 171 garments and 43 pairs of shoes were distributed among the poor. Employment was found for five persons notwithstanding practically all employers had adopted the practice of making care of their own employees first. Transportation was furnished to 28 persons and families, largely in cases where the breadwinners had secured employment elsewhere. In the case of three families very much reduced in circumstances, by lack of employment and illness insurance premiums, gas and water bills were paid. Tools were bought for men who had secured work and two families were moved to points where employment had been secured.

It is the policy of the Army to give no money to applicants for relief. When groceries are required orders are given to a store and the articles to be supplied are specified. Orders for meals likewise particularize the items in order that the bounty of the Army may not in either case be imposed upon. At stated intervals these orders are presented to the Army by the store or restaurant keepers, and they are paid in cash.

Constant effort is made to remedy conditions in needy families by securing employment for the adult members as soon as possible. When this has been done relief is reduced and when the wage earners are secured on their feet aid is withdrawn entirely.

SYRIA CARAYAN NO. 9 GIVES

BRILLIANT SOCIAL FUNCTION

A social function of much prominence was a large and handsomely appointed card party and dance given last night at the State Armory by Syria Carayan, No. 9, composed of members of Fayette county. The spacious auditorium was converted into a veritable bower of beauty for the occasion and not in recent years has it been the scene of a more brilliant social event. Suspended from the center of the hall was a large, red and gold emblem of the order. Red and yellow streamers were festooned from all parts of the room and the side lights were shaded with red and yellow. The handsome gowning of the ladies added brilliancy to the scene. The grand march in which fully one hundred and fifty couples participated, was led by Grand Potentate A. Rook Carroll of Pittsburg and Miss Todd of Uniontown. Those who cared not to dance spent a very enjoyable evening at cards. During the intermission of dancing the guests were delightfully entertained by Miss Carayan, who came here especially for the occasion. Common skin ailment in small children. It seemed to burn and itched. It was very much disfigured for a time, and her hair came out in patches and was matted and dry. She was very restless at night. Brown, 549 Linden St., Trenton, N. J., Sept. 1, 1921.

warehouse on Conneltsville street. Prosperity continued to follow him and in 1901 he erected a large brick business block on the site of the store that had been burned, and moved his store into that. He later built a fine modern residence, transformed his warehouse into a three-story brick business block, acquired a farm east of the borough, improved the farm, and built thereon a fine summer home, put down water lines to his borough property giving the people of the town a concrete example of what the entire town might have if the authorities awake to their duties.

Then, when in a position to enjoy life and live happily in comfort, the Grim Reaper came and robbed him of his wife and the daughters, who had been their sunshine, leaving him desolate. He then exchanged his railroad street block and his farm for a valuable West Virginia coal tract, and moved his business into the Conneltsville street business block. But too close confinement to business during all these years had made inroads into his health and he has found it necessary to dispose of his business and the new proprietors are already in charge of the store.

During the 46 years he has been in business here most of his early patrons have passed to the other side, their children have reared families and are growing gray and their children are in turn rearing families. Many a family here has been born and work secure has found their credit good as Sweeney's.

But Mr. Sweeney has been active in other lines, too. The people called him to serve on the council, and after six years efficient service he resigned to accept the postoffice to which he was appointed by President McKinley. He held the postoffice for six years.

Mr. Sweeney has no immediate intention of leaving the town with which his interests have been identified for half a century.

Politically Mr. Sweeney has always been an active Republican. He is a cousin of J. Q. Van Sweeney, president judge of the Fayette county courts.

2. Conkey's will give your chickens that quick start in growth that is necessary to insure early broilers and layers.
3. Conkey's will help prevent White Diarrhea, as the lactic acid in the buttermilk helps to sweep away and neutralize the germs that cause it.

5. Conkey's is the only Buttermilk Starting Feed made by the Conkey Original Process, in which the buttermilk is thoroughly incorporated with the other ingredients. We use no solid buttermilk only.

"Nothing Equals Conkey's"
U. R. Fitch, the well-known breeder of White Plymouth Rocks at Fisherton Farms, Hope, Ind., writes: "Conkey's Buttermilk Starting Feed is the best feed for young chicks. I have found nothing else in the 10 years I have been in business."

Feed It for the First 8 Weeks
When the chicks are hatched, give them clean water with the little taken off and let them eat, but not for 8 hours. Then feed Conkey's Buttermilk Starting Feed dry, often, especially for the first few days, and will clean it up, gradually increasing and continue for eight weeks, with occasionally a little green food. If you do this, you will lose very few chicks on account of sickness. (a) Conkey's Buttermilk Starting Feed is sold at dealers carrying poultry supplies and supplies. If you can't supply you with Conkey's, write direct to us and we shall see that you are supplied.

Dad's Clothes

By Wright-Meister Co.
"What kind of clothes does your father wear?" If he is a well-dressed, neat-looking man whose silver hair adds to the distinction of his appearance you are proud of him. You want people to meet him and know that he is your father? Of course one should never feel ashamed of his parents but—

Are you one of the modern young people who dotes yourself up in the latest of fashions, "fashion" being a drain on the family purse, do you insist upon up-to-date furnishings for your home, the latest records for the piano and the new records for your talking machine, in order that your home may be as popular as your chum's—do you eat a critical eye on the dinner table that the articles thereon be in keeping with the ideals of a prosperous family? This is all very well—but do your parents pay for all this at the expense of their appearance?

Many a father in this busy community is too engrossed in making a good living for his family to think or care much about his own personal appearance. When guests come in he reads his paper or perhaps goes out for a while—thus saving his family any mental excuses for his appearance. Maybe his coat is of one pattern and his trousers of another or the vest may be the disreputable member of the outfit. If the young people would arouse only to the realization that he is not only a useful member of the family but may be ornamental as well he would probably listen to their plea and attire himself in new and up-to-date clothing.

Get dad to go to a good clothes store who will show him some conservative well-made clothes—clothes built for his own special requirements of an anatomy outline clothes that will take 10 years from his appearance and make him feel a thrill of pride and satisfaction when he looks himself in the long mirror in the hall.

Make dad feel that he is an item of interest to the young folks—let in clothes good taste he is in the family sphere.

SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 1, 1922.

NOTHING TO BE GAINED BY SUS-PENSION IN COKE REGION.There is little inclination and still less necessity for the mine workers of the Connelville region responding to the appeal of the United Mine Workers organization to join with it in an attempt to put a complete stop to coal mining operations in the United States.The coke region and the fields devoted exclusively to the production of raw coal vary so largely in character that there is comparatively little in common between the employees of the two groups. The standards of measurement as the basis of pay and conditions of employment in the coke region differ so widely from similar factors in many of the coal mining sections as to set the coke industry apart as distinct and separate in all that pertains to the issues involved in the present controversy between the employees and employers in the unionized districts.For almost 30 years the occasion
has never arisen when the mine workers of the Connelville region found it necessary even to ask for an advance in wages, much less to threaten the use of coercive measures to achieve that end. The uniform policy of the operators meanwhile has been to voluntarily advance the rates of pay at such times and as frequently as the state of the coke market made such action possible. During the whole period the uniform scale system of wages has been in effect 24 separate scales have been posted. Up to and including 1908, but two of these scales provided a reduction in wages and in each case the next succeeding scale restored the reduction.
From that year until May 15, 1921,
there were 11 new scales, each of which provided an advance over the scale it replaced.Three advances were made in 1916, three in 1917 and two in 1920. The increases during the war period were 125 per cent over the scale in effect in 1914. It was not until May of last year that, long after the war-time prices for coke had been fully depleted, the H. C. Frick Coke Company made a reduction in wages, followed by a second reduction on August 1
last. The aggregate of these reductions is but 25 per cent, making the existing scale 100 per cent higher than that being paid at the outbreak of the World War.At every stage in the progress of these advances in the Connelville region the rates have been the highest paid for similar classes of labor in any working district in the world. That condition obtains today and there is no disposition on part of the operators to do otherwise than retain such leadership for the Connelville region, notwithstanding coke prices
are but a fractional part of those ruling
during the war time boom.Coincident with the maintenance of a high wage standard the operators of the Connelville region have been constantly alert and willing to respond to any expenditure that may be required, to make working and living conditions as nearly ideal as the nature of things render possible. The fruit of these efforts and considerate regard for the welfare of employees has been that they have been large earners and contented and happy in their relations with their employers.From their point of view there is nothing to be gained by quitting work at the behest of the leaders of the miners in other districts to whom coke region workers owe no allegiance and to whom they feel under no obligation of any kind, least of all for having been instrumental in securing higher rates of pay which employers have granted from time to time without the necessity of any action or hint on part of employees.REVENUE OF LARGER RAILROAD EARNINGS.Another and very substantial evidence that the business of the country
at large is assuming larger proportions, and that we are steadily moving forward to conditions that will require the employment of more men in gainful occupations, is found in the statistics of railroad earnings.During the month of February there was quite noticeable gains in the net operating income of all the important railroads. The Pennsylvania, for instance, had income of this character to the amount of $2,422,322 in January compared with $2,068,088 in January and a net operating deficit of $1,836-348 in February of 1921. This represents a gain of $1,428,641 in one month and of $3,226,077 in 12 months.The Baltimore & Ohio was less fortunate, its net operating income inFebruary having been $2,071,125, or a gain of $2,009,705, as compared with February a year ago. The income of the Reading in January was $2,040,350, a gain of $1,239,927 over January and a gain of $1,538,312 within a year. Other roads show proportionately the same rate of increase.There can be but one explanation of this change in the financial situation of the railroads. Shipments have been heavier, manufacturers are enlarging their production, merchants and dealers are buying more freely and consumption is increasing. The average citizen has more money to spend which means that the period of turnover in business is being shortened and trade is acquiring a momentum which is making the return of prosperity less distant every day.The changes are not manifest in every section or in every line of business, but the increased activity of the railroads shows that real improvement is in progress in iron and steel,
farm products, building and related activities. Sooner or later the reflection will be felt in other lines and prosperity will become general.Broadcasting campaign speeches by radio will have one distinct advantage for listeners. They can switch the flow of oratory off whenever it becomes dull and tiresome and without hurting the feelings of the speakers.Your friends will doubtless provide occasion today for you to recall the observation of "Fuddendhead Wilson"
that "this is the day upon which you are reminded what you are the other day."Thrift Does Not Hurt
BusinessBy S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.One occasionally comes in contact with objections to thrift on the ground that it hurts business. The statement sometimes is made that all that is needed to make business generally good today is for people to spend more money.This is a subject that deserves careful analysis and the most thoughtful consideration. Reckless spending upon the part of the public would stimulate some kinds of business, but it would be only a temporary and superficial acceleration. It would not be fundamental and would be followed by a corresponding reaction.Immediately following the war this country experienced a period of economic intoxication. Everything was abnormal. Speculation, spending, extravagance and luxury knew no bounds. Then came the reaction, out of which we are just now emerging.It is true that there should be more spending of money by the people of the country today, and that such activity would help the general business situation. But such increased expenditure should be along prudent and thrifty lines. Spending in a wasteful way will not bring substantial help, but spending along constructive and uplifting ways will put more men to work and start the wheels of industry turning in a normal way.It must be borne in mind that any activities that are fundamentally wasteful are unworthy of encouragement.
And the whole question of spending centers on the point of whether one's outgo of money is constructive or wasteful.To discourage practices of thrift and invite the wild, free spending of money, merely for the purpose of helping business is indeed poor counsel.
As we have already seen, such general practices would only lead us into greater difficulties.What the nation needs is a broad understanding of the kind of thrift which means thriving and getting ahead.

THE CROCUS.

A yellow crocus bloomed today.
Where all is dead and black and barren,
It flashed its light along the way
And radiantly twinkled there.Out of the darkness and the gloom,
Braving the blizzard's bitter sting,
There came this golden bit of bloom
To herald the advancing spring."Hold out! Hold out!" it seemed to say,
So must the siege of winter fall,
The daffodils are on their way.
The hyacinths have heard you call.Behind me comes a countless throng
Of bigger, braver blooms than I;
The woods shall shortly ring with song
Of Spring's glorious army draweth
nigh.A yellow crocus flashed today
Its torch of faith for all to see—
The troops of spring are on the way.
The captive earth will soon be free.Classified

Union Village, Vt.—"I was weak and nervous and all run-down. I could not walk across the floor without resting and I had been that way for weeks. Before I finished I was able to work nine hours a day in a steam laundry. I cannot say too much in favor of your medicine. I trust all sick and suffering women will take it. It has been two years since I took it and I am strong and well."

Comprehensive History of World Struggle to Be Sold By Veterans of Foreign Wars

SCOTTSDALE, April 1.—The campaign is now on in Connellsville and Scottsdale for the sale of the Source Record History of Great Events of the Great War. Mr. Jeffries, Mr. Kellar and Mr. Cunningham are at the Y. M. C. A. and will be there a day or two longer.

These books contain everything worth knowing during this great period and are the only official and impartial narrative records in the own words of rulers, highest officials and eye witnesses of the warring nations.

This history was compiled by 1,500 international specialists under the direction of Dr. Charles F. Horne, Ph. D., chief United States government expert on history, who was commissioned by Congress in 1914 to go to Europe and secure these facts. These books are for use in editorial rooms, universities, colleges, and public libraries, and in the homes of thoughtful people.

In the words of the letter to the people of the United States by national headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, "every dollar received by the V. F. W. from this sale, without the deduction of a single cent, will be devoted to a noble purpose—the support and extension of service bureaus which devote all their time and efforts to the relief and cure for the claims of disabled former service men regardless of their affiliation with any organization. It is felt that the people will buy the real records of the war, sometime, and that it should be done now when the need of the veterans is the greatest and the profit on the sale is going to a worthy purpose."

Mr. Jeffries, Mr. Kellar and Mr. Cunningham will be glad to call and interview anyone who may be interested. A call on the phone will bring any in the home or office of anyone who desires to look these books over, and assure anyone that they will not be obligated thereby.

Wall Selects All-Scholastic Team; Welsh, Coker Guard, Gets Place On Section 3, W. P. I. A. L. Five

Braddock Has Three Men in Honor Position; Norwin Gets One.

LOCALS ON SECOND TEAM

By James M. Driscoll
Sporting Editor

D Edward Wall of Scottsdale today released his selections of All-Scholastic basketball teams for Section 3, W. P. I. A. L., in which Connellsville played, also for Western Pennsylvania and a Western Pennsylvania All-Collegiate team.

In connection with his selections the referee, well known throughout scholastic and college circles in Western Pennsylvania as one of the most competent officials on the Central Board roll, comments on the "class" of basketball exhibited by the city teams, naming the Pittsburgh loop, and the "outside" teams. The latter group excelled throughout, he declares, and offers as evidence the elimination of South Hills, champions of the city section of the W. P. I. A. League, by the Kittanning quintet in the play-off by a decisive score. Incidentally Connellsville High School defeated South Hills, also Allegheny Hl, the runner-up, and Crafton another Pittsburgh district five.

The season has produced many floor stars in the schools loops and Wall's comment on these include Ray Welsh, who filled a big hole in the Coker defense, caused by graduation last season of "Pep" Francis.

It is also Welsh who alone represents Connellsville on the All-Scholastic team in Section No. 3. Howard (Mickey) McCormick takes a place as forward on the second team in the same division and Regis Lowmyer is named as center.

Braddock figures heavily on the Sectional All-Scholastic outfit, with three men on the first team and one on the second. Naylor of Norwin, the heady little player who spilled trouble for every opposing team this season, is selected by Wall to captain his mythical five.

Wall points out that while he did not see all the games played, his selections have been made with consummate care and only after officials handling the various games were consulted. In Section 3, however, he witnessed every team in action.

Defining the reasons for his selections, Wall writes:

"Forwards. In Norwin and Naylor I have two of the best scoring forwards in the section, both good foul shots, with Naylor taking the lead in this, and having again made it possible for Braddock to win the championship of the section. Naylor, while a good foul shot, is still much better than Naylor from the floor, is a good dribbler and a fine passer. He is also a good leader, something that goes a long way to make a winning team and for that reason I give him the captaincy of my team."

"Center. Zukovitch of Braddock has jumped every tip-off man he has met this year in the section and has made an enviable record from the floor in shooting."

"Guards. Cibula of Braddock and 'Kid' Welsh of Connellsville form one of the finest pairs of guards any coach would want for his team. In Cibula he would have a running guard that is equal to many forwards in shooting from the floor and a boy who is always giving his opponent much trouble. He seems awkward but has the knack of feeding his forwards. In Welsh I have only a first-year player has come to the front very fast and is one of the best 'sill' guards I have seen this year—a boy who has lots of fight and who it seems knows what to do with the ball. Very seldom does he make the wrong pass always holding the ball until one of his men is free or in a position to shoot."

"The selections for the Western Pennsylvania All-Scholastic team are: Brainer of Shenoy and Sharpe of McKeesport, forwards, Union of Waynesburg, center, Richman of Washington, and Katzenstein of Johnstown, guards. Richman is selected as captain of the All-Western Pennsylvania five."

"The All-Collegiate team includes Jordan of Pitt and Foster of Grove City, forwards, Funk of Pitt center and Stephanian of Grove City and K. Conn of Washington & Jefferson at guards. K. Conn is named captain."

"Regarding the school boy athletes Wall concludes:

"Among the new boys breaking into the high school game are several who will bear watching. They are English of Scottsdale, Kramer of Norwin and Higgins of Scottsdale. English is a good foul shooter and a fair scorer from the floor when not played too closely. The Norwin lad is a guard of the All-type who helped make up the championship team of that place a few years ago. The best prospect of an undisciplined player is Huggins who played in the last few games at center for Scottsdale High. He is a tall lanky long-armed player and with these requisites—everything that goes to make a pivot man—should improve wonderfully and be valuable to Scottsdale next season."

TY COBB HAS GOOD CHANCE TO EQUAL ANOTHER RECORD IN 1927

Ty Cobb this season, will have a chance to equal another baseball record that was expected to stand for all time.

Hans Wagner passed out of the National league in 1913. He left behind a record of having batted .300 or better for 17 years.

Lajoie, for eleven years, kept Wagner company, but Larry fell by the wayside in 1907, when he was a point shy of Cobb, the only player who figured to have a chance, has stuck to the ship.

For 16 years Cobb has been in the charmed circle.

If he can hit .300 in 1927 he will have tied Wagner's record. During his career Cobb's low mark was .220 in 1900, his first year as a .300 hitter.

There is every reason to believe that Cobb will not only equal but surpass Wagner's record.

Popular Little Athlete Plays Last Contest, and Does It Well.

BIG CROWD SEES CLASH

Albert Soisson captain and one of the most popular players on the Connellsville High School basketball team playing his last game under the standard of the Orange and Black, capped a fitting climax on his career in High School sports when he won the final basketball game of the season for Connellsville over the Dunbar Township High School quintet, "Ab," as he is familiarly and fondly known to hosts of friends, played the game of his life and his exit from the sports of the school was made in a blaze of glory.

Of course Soisson didn't make all the scores but he got the lion's share and the fact that he scored a field goal with 15 seconds to go when the score was tied at 25-25, makes him a hero in the eyes of Coker fans.

The contest developed into a battle of capitals. Prior to the start of the game the visiting team of the visitors and he also was playing his final game for the Red and Black.

The great crowd which filled the gymnasium, many of whom had to fight for a position on the floor, witnessed a most wonderful and hard fought contest.

Dunbar Township, coaters were present in great numbers, anticipating a second victory over the Cokers having won from the locals in a game a week ago at Leisonging. There was a unanimous uproar throughout the contest and the "referee" whistle could hardly be heard above the uproar.

Neither team ever gained a great advantage in the point of a lead. The visitors were ahead by two points at the end of the first quarter but Connellsville had gained and was leading 18-15 at the half way mark.

The Cokers were still maintaining the three point margin at the close of the third quarter and were only saved from a tie game by Captain Soisson's goal.

Dunbar Township played one of the best games ever put up by that team on the Connellsville High floor. Pritchard and Moore were great factors in leading the Township offense but had a terrible snag in his defense work by Ray Welsh. He covered Pritchard and did it well.

The Cokers went into the game with only three regulars in the line-up they being Soisson, Lowmyer and Welsh. LaRue and Cunningham filled the other positions. All three rapidly made play and then limit to make up for the weakness in other positions and proved themselves worthy.

The line up
Connellsville—J. Doshier Trp.—28
Soisson F. Pritchard
Cunningham F. D. Bradley

Lowmyer was glad to see Soisson make the winning goal last night. It was his first shot for a basket in the name of the Connellsville High School and the fact that it won a game will remain long in the minds of the fans.

Then too Soisson is one of the entire squad to graduate this year.

YOU ARE PAYING

For a Modern Heating Plant Whether You Know It or Not.

YOU ARE PAYING for it in fuel wasted daily by old-fashioned furnaces or stoves. In a very short time this wasted fuel money would pay for a modern steam, vapor or hot water heating system.

You hope for warmth and comfort from every load of coal you buy. Instead—you get plenty of ashes, soot and dust; rooms overheated one minute and chilled the next. Sickens results from the uneven heating of your home and endless labor is the price of even a small share of comfort.

How much better to return home at night and find your family contented and snug in a warm house. How convenient to sleep later mornings with no need to kindle a fire in a cold furnace. What satisfaction, when paying coal bills, to know that you got real value for the fuel you bought.

The Best Place on Earth

That's an easy one to guess—Home! For that's the way every normal person feels—or ought to feel. Home doesn't mean merely a place of shelter from cold or rain—a place to eat and sleep. It should mean a place where all of the family are happy to be, sorry to leave, and glad to get back to.

Wall paper is one of the greatest factors in creating a pleasant home, although it cannot do the work all alone. But it does furnish the right kind of setting or background, and if it is well chosen, it contributes a very large share toward making the household contented and happy.

Every home should be artistically wall papered because of the moral effect upon those who reside there. The importance of this is now generally recognized by scientists, teachers, and mothers who have made a study of the effect of pleasing wall decoration on the minds of children.

Sports Togs For the New Season

Promise That Easter Will Be Colorful and Gay

Scarf and Hat Sets

Every sport costume requires a scarf—but when your hat and scarf are both made of the same ravishing silk, you catch the very height of modishness. Sets come in red, blue, fawn and two-toned stripe of figured combinations.

$12.75

Vivid Sweaters

A sweater, it is the latest in spring and here is where sport sweaters are at their best. Slipover and tuxedo styles in wool are $1.95 up. Gay silk sweaters in all high sport shades or two-tone effects—

$5.95 to $8.75 to $12.75

The Essential Sports Corset

It must be a flexible little thing that confines but does not hamper the body. Gossard Corsets—they lace in front—come in many models ideal for sport. They allow you unlimited freedom above the waist but smooth the curves of your figure. Other makes are Warner and American Lady.

$1.50 to $4.50

Sport Neckwear

Never has Wright-Metzler Store featured such a marvelous array of it! In linen, organdie, pongee, net and rayon—collars, cuffs and cuffs sets and trim vesties. To add a final bit of verve to one's sweater.

50c to $1.25 to $3.75

Smart Sport Waists

The sports mode revives the popularity of the cotton waist—but adds to it daring touches of a contrasting trimming. Balloons, dimity, dotted swiss, all are good but not more so than cool pongee which trims itself with small-checked gingham.

$2.50 to $3.95 to $6.95

Sport Hose

In silk, newly arrived Gordon Hose make a good sports stocking. With mercerized cotton top, heel and toe for extra wear. In black and chestnut brown—

$2.50

THERE'S this about the new vogue for Sports Apparel. Sport Togs, as 1922 fashions them, are so colorful and smart that they become women of every silhouette and type. So comfortable that it's a positive joy to wear them. So inexpensive that they are within reach of every purse. And you don't have to play golf or be a tennis-hound to wear them. 1922 says that Sport Clothes are in good taste no matter where you go. They're even scheduled to supply thrills aplenty in the Easter parade this season.

The Wise Sportswoman Accepts the Vogue for Capes $19.75 to $49.75

Capes go to all lengths, this season, for favor. They may be short, three-quarter or long—any type, in fact, that accords with one's figure, one's height and one's general disposition.

Tweed and Polaire are the kindly materials in which they're fashioned—the former in pastels, tints and "pepper and salt" colors. The latter in a wide range of soft-toned tans.

No other garments quite achieves their carefree modish, "sport-sy" air.

A Sport Frock Must be Colorful First of All $12.75 to $65

So Sport dresses turn to those materials that can really carry color well—Krepe Knit, Canton Crepe, Eponge (a new one!) and Jersey.

Some favor the three piece costume's grace and carry an independent little jacket. Others content themselves with contrasting trimmings and a peasant blouse. Lady Bird and Mohawk are becoming colors—favored because they provide that all-important thing—a bright spot in one's wardrobe.

Four Beautiful Materials Appear in Sport Suits at $19.75 to $49.75

The first is "tweed"—1922's new colorful Tweed—by far and large the suit material most in fashion's favor.

The second is Trelaine—a goodlooking fabric that positively refuses to wrinkle or get easily out of shape.

The next is Spondeen—a sturdy weave which appears in high colors.

Sport Coats Are Swagger Things—Reasonably Priced $19.75 to $49.75

They are of a type to win the instant admiration and approbation of the woman who is meticulous in the choice of her apparel.

Tweed appears again in them—and Camel's Hair and Chinchilla; the latter in boxy models in such colors as Jockey Red and Kelly Green.

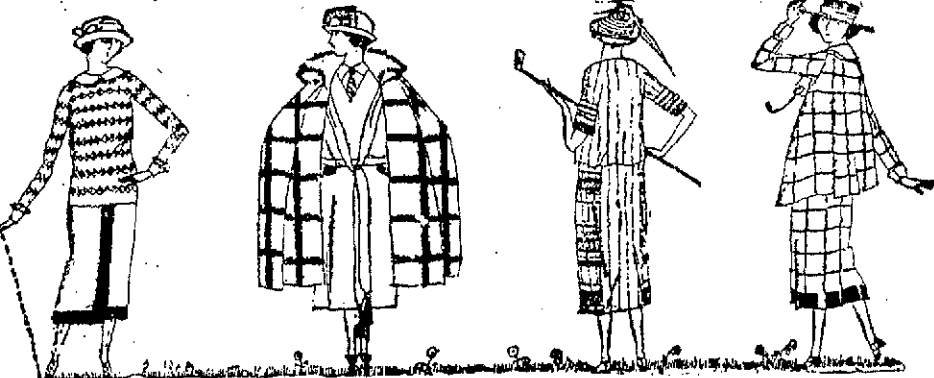

Some are unlined—for comfort. Some have pouch pockets and dapper belts. Each has a distinctive touch to insure that it will ever remain exclusive.

Sport Skirts are Smart Companions for a Sweater $10.75 to $19.75

They come in Prinella, Homespun, Tweed, Flannel and Satin and are boldly checked or plain so you'll have no trouble finding a matching sweater.

Something new—and easy to get into—are the "Wrap Skirts" that button at the left front!

A particular good-looking model comes in our old friend—plain white flannel.

Van Raalte Veils Win Your Favor at a Glance $1.50 to $5.50

The vogue of draped veils continues—Paris approves them and American women find them vastly becoming.

In an Easter shipment just received from Van Raalte are some of the square veils so popular with small hats, the amply patterned veils that complete the wide-brimmed creation and, of course, a fascinating assortment of veils in plain, dotted and bordered effects.

"A veil for every hat and no costume complete without one"—is the season's slogan.
